allies in France and Belgium. That they would do this with enormous Russian forces threatening their own and richest territory, military men here may seems highly improbable, unless the Germans are satisfied a small force can prevent the Russians entering Silesia and East Prussia.

In the west the ding-dong fighting continues. The Belgians, who hold the lines along the coast, are being given a comparative rest, after their three months of almost continuous fighting. The Germans still are concentrating around Ypres, where they are trying to hack their way through the Anglo-French troops to the coast.

Both sides claim to have made progress here, the Anglo-French forces southeast of the town and the Germans southwest.

southeast of the town and the Ger-inans southwest.

Correspondents in the rear of the ar-mies say the fighting has not appre-ciably lessened and that both sides are using a tremendous weight of artillery in an endeavor to clear the ground for an infantry advance.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE ALONG LINE OF BATTLE Elsewhere along the line the usual attacks and counterattacks have been delivered without material change in the situation.

RUSSIAN FORCES

ATTACKING GERMANS PETROGRAD, November 7 (via London, 2:40 P. M.,.—Russian forces are attacking the German position at Sieradz, on the Warthe River in Russian Poland, southeast of Kalisz, and about fifteen miles east of the German border, according to information reaching Petrograd to-day.

Dispatches from Constantinople describe the situation there as outwardly much as it was during the Balkan War.

All foreigners except Germans are regarded with suspicion. Germans may be seen everywhere, and German money is so plentiful that it often is accepted as though it were Turkish. In cafes and places of amusement the German language constantly is heard. language constantly is heard,

Governing classes appear solemnly confident, but the army is declared to be wholly unprepared for war. Storehouses are said to be empty, and no houses are said to be empty, and accommissariat exists. Many soldiers still are wearing the old uniforms used in the last previous war, and army officers have not all been paid, it is asserted. There also is a scarcity of serted. There also is a samunition, continues the correspondent, though Germany has poured into Turkey German officers, privates, and ammunition, and LOTH.—Died, at her residenc, 2007

AUSTRO-GERMAN REVERSES BEING AUGMENTED DAILY

ROME, November 7.-Official com-munications received in Rome from the Russian army headquarters state that the Austro-German reverses in Galicia and Russian Poland are being aug-mented daily by the fugitive troops communicating panic to their reserves.

The Austro-German cavalry forces are depicted as being in an especially pitiful condition. A part of this force, it is said, was massacred by the out-numbering Cossacks; the remainder being routed and pursued in the utmost

Austria and Germany had centred about 20,000 of their best cavalry, half joicing here. It is believed that, with the surrender of the German fortress, the Anglo-Japanese fleet, which took part in the siege, will be detailed to hunt down German cruisers still at large in the Pacific.

No announcement has been made concerning the amount of booty the allies obtained through the surrender of Tsingchau, but it is believed the Germans destroyed everything possible before capitulating.

Great Britain is not satisfied that all has been told of the Pacific naval battle and continues to hope that the

The situation on the iser shows no change. The enemy has posts on the left bank of the river, but has contented himself with a feeble artillery fire directed against the roads in the environs of Ramscapelle.

There are also one or two prizes, such as the Russian volunteer steamer, which was captured by the Emden on August 4, directly after the declaration of war, and taken to Tsingchau.

Dutch correspondents who, disguised as Flemish citizens, have reached the front, declare the Germans are slowly but surely retreating. The recount that the German division staff on November 2 moved from Thielt to Ghent, thirty-three kilometres to the east, and that the line from Ghent and Alost to Brussels was being heavily intrenched until November 4, when the engineers were hastily called to the front to fill vacancies. It is clear, according to those correspondents, that the Germans have been concentrating near Nieuport and Dixmude large forces drawn from the south.
